WSS Overview

The practical truth we are now resolutely facing and must accept is that our current world development and management systems are not geared or oriented toward collaboratively working together. The world management systems of today are operationally limited by toxic predatory competition, partisanship, polarization, inequity, bias, nationalism and corrupted by ego-based tribal dynamics and have become too costly to sustain. There is a short-term window of opportunity available to us to choose this more conscious and optimal path together without blaming or judging our prior economic systems, social dynamics, leadership or any nation.

WSS is an International Collaboration Platform, Culture and Solutions Generation Engine for Healthy Global Transformation. WSS is a globally re-organizing, developmentally facilitative and consciousness transforming process and set of strategies for restructuring our global support infrastructure and an apolitical, globally inclusive, uniting, aligning, empowering and integrating social movement.

Humanity as a collective is now at a critical inflection-point in our collective evolution. The state of consciousness that put in place the incentives, infrastructures and systems of business and models of governance of today cannot effectively take us into tomorrow.
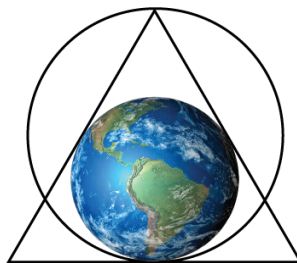

Our collective consciousness must fundamentally shift, and we must choose to evolve our consciousness and international cultures rapidly, intentionally and comprehensively if we are to remain viable as a species. We must literally change ourselves and how we live. We must resolutely now choose to solve all the dimensions of the global problems that we ourselves are choosing daily to create. We must now consider what world we will create and leave behind for our children to inherit. We must be vigilant and vow to never again fall asleep at the collective steering wheel.

WSS is a Global Transformation Operating System; a technology-based collaboration and global transformation support platform and organizational infrastructure; a philosophy, ideology and defined path to a united healthy world culture that allows us all to collaborate, coordinate, operate and make collective decisions. WSS is a global collaboration system of networked technology platforms, information systems technologies, organizations and institutions, that includes a central database of available affiliated collaborative expertise, networkable organizational resources and human resources of all kinds. It is a central think-tank of coordinative and transdisciplinary learning and knowledge integration. It is a crowd sourced software solutions development hub. It is a central broad-spectrum communications system to facilitate coordinated collaborative global activities. WSS will also develop and deploy a new form of comprehensive online educational system to model and teach the developed cultural ability to operate in these new, necessary and sustainable ways.

The practical initial steps toward achieving this goal are to bring together a combination of crowd sourced resources, (i.e. a "grass roots movement"). It will also include bringing together representatives of various global organizations, and the creation of a "Network of Social Leaders" that includes relevant thought leaders, concerned philanthropists, world class subject matter experts, and well-known performance artists that then network and collaborate to bring forth resources and funding for the design and creation of the WSS organizational architecture and then to globally publicly support the WSS development process going forward. The WSS organization will organically evolve to operate in whatever manner is most necessary to fulfill the needs of all levels of international societies of the world simultaneously.

We humbly ask all of humanity to choose to help each other and to accomplish these vital goals in order to create a bright sustainable future for all. It is time to unite our hearts, minds and hands in collective intention to raise our consciousness and compassionately embrace our interconnectedness as one humanity, one earth, with one destiny.

World Systems Solutions ™
Stewards Of The Common Good

Architecting Positive Change For The Benefit Of All