ABOUT WSS

World System Solutions

World Systems Solutions (WSS) is a 501c3 nonprofit organization whose vision is to unite, organize, mobilize and align humanity in common purpose to resolve the climate crisis through conscious collaboration and the best possible use of technology. Together as a worldwide collaborative community we will generate a sustainable future via intelligent application of technology, creativity and resources.

Our organization is fundraising for PHOENIX™, a World Transformation Platform and new global utility. This presentation will explore how we are rising from the ashes of our collective past choices and how we now have the capacity and new technological breakthroughs necessary to solve the climate crisis and positively guide humanity towards a sustainable future for generations to come. Participating in the design and operation of this platform will empower the individual to unite and align collective goodwill in service to all of humanity and the planet. PHOENIX is a World Transformation Platform for the aggregation of global resources into an organized system for large-scale solutions generation and delivery to any area of need in the world. Due to the dire nature of the current global climate crisis, we suggest this necessary approach and are working to reduce global emotional change-related stress at the same time.

Through PHOENIX, WSS will bring people, organizations, and government institutions into collaboration at the levels of scale and quality required to resolve the roots of the climate crisis and generate supportive solutions. PHOENIX promotes global scale Conscious Collaboration, bringing together some of the world's most valuable work by thought leaders in environmental organizations, science, research, government, and business, to turn the challenges we face into opportunities: (pollution prevention & cleanup, carbon sequestration, food and water security, climate migration, conservation etc.).

We intend to serve as an integration point to effectively combine the best past and present human efforts, and new and existing technologies to build a healthier future.

A PLANETARY CALL TO ACTION

This is an opportunity for humanity to fully reimagine and reinvent itself. We are offering a clear path forward and a substantial mechanism to personally make a large-scale impact on solving the climate crisis while simultaneously creating a sustainable future for the world's children and our ecosystems.

Current efforts are not fostering the scalable creative collaboration needed to completely transition from dependencies on harmful practices and non-renewable resources, like fossil fuels, globally, over the next seven years. The climate crisis is now a climate emergency. The latest IPCC report states we now have less than 7 years to act collectively to prevent massive loss of life and biodiversity. This is a multidimensional and complex issue involving all layers of life process. We will present new and compelling solutions on the issue at hand and how it is now possible for individuals to make a global impact on the climate crisis.

This is THE moment for humanity; we are at an inflection point in our evolution. Collectively we have designed the necessary tools that can be applied globally. Only now has it become possible for humanity to apply its collective co-creative capacity in an organized way to transform itself to reach its highest potential.
