

World Systems Solutions™

Architecting Positive Change for the Good of ALL

The WSS Co-Creative PHOENIX World Transformation Platform

Ver. 1.5

By: John Jones

Copyright 2012-2024, Karmic Communications, LLC, All Rights Reserved

We are World System Solutions or “the WSS”. Our organizational culture is based on love, respect and service toward all of humanity, and we celebrate all their diverse and co-creative potential and right to self-expression. Every human being is a source of some wise understanding and carries some of the solutions to our collective challenges. No person and no organization have access to all the answers required to create a successful healthy future for humanity. Therefore the WSS intends to create a platform that will allow the global community to operate in concert and in orchestrated union to bring everyone’s precious gifts and understandings into the required quality of realized, organized and intelligently aligned functional capability necessary to effectively meet world needs and to solve world problems.

Existing world management systems, systems of governance and reporting media platforms of all kinds, including social media platforms, leave many of us feeling divided, conflicted, unheard, polarized, misunderstood and in certain cases even silenced. In addition, existing organizational models and platform designs do not support large-scale constructive coordinated actions in ways that will immediately and effectively bring scalable expertise, resources and solutions to world problems. To positively affect this situation the WSS is proposing a new form of international organizational model and software support platform that allows information collection, integration and the quality of management necessary to support constructive orchestrated collaboration between all human beings who choose to share their concerns, perspectives, ideas, resources and expertise. The platform we are creating is called the PHOENIX World Transformation Platform.

The proposed PHOENIX platform is a robust collaborative organizational model and software platform that includes expert international culture transformation facilitators whose efforts will be supported by PHOENIX’s global information collection and management system stored in an artificially intelligent database. This information collection system is designed to support collaborative international development, implementation of solutions strategies and associated resource management and delivery capabilities. PHOENIX will support the strategized alignment of targeted global communications, coordinated efforts and large-scale transformational projects. It will utilize various existing funding engines and non-profit’s resources to support new and existing globally transformational social movements and their associated strategies and participant’s needs.

PHOENIX will not operate within the dynamics or boundaries of traditional journalism, reporting mediums or governmental information collection and strategizing methods. PHOENIX will accomplish its goals in an integrous and non-profit mode.

A System to Support Positive and Healthy Global Social Movements

The described PHOENIX technology and organizational infrastructure support the orchestrated development, funding and simultaneous management of many diverse positive and healthy global and intra-national social movements throughout their natural lifecycles for benefit to the world. The PHOENIX system will rapidly, and on any scale, organize the often very unorganized and potentially polarized, conflicting, fragmented and incomplete information sources from global societies into efficient, effective, highly organized and assuredly globally unifying, peacefully managed and long-term sustainable social movements and associated global change management efforts. Therefore, PHOENIX is a grounded, practical, defined and refine-able path to global unification and unified action and way of developing methods for addressing global problems. Examples of these challenges are climate change, pollution, gender inequality, racial inequality, poverty, and collective management of precious resources. In order to effectively meet these challenges one additional function of the PHOENIX platform will be to help world governments to comprehensively re-organize, evolve and upgrade their existing dysfunctional and fragmented legacy systems of global management.

As you read the remainder of this document we ask you to envision how PHOENIX's integrative global problem and situation reporting system, strategy development system, and coordinated strategy implementation systems, all operating without political agenda, could have diminished the painful influences of COVID-19 on our world. How could this system have constructively and preemptively rather than reactively influenced and optimized social transformation and brought more positive results after the untimely and unnecessary death in the United States of George Floyd? (The Black Lives Matter Social Movement).

How could humanity have better understood its collective problems, been better prepared and then more constructively worked with these situations before they happened? It is unquestionably better to take constructive, peaceful, cost-effective preemptive action rather than trying to react and play catch up after these tragic situations have occurred. Lack of having a system such as PHOENIX in place has led to vast death and suffering, and to the world's peoples paying trillions of dollars, long-term damage to global financial systems, job loss, and significantly increased social conflict. Worldwide collateral disruption from COVID-19 will now inevitably lead to further global domino effects and suffering. We can take healthy constructive action now, before this potential future unfolds, and do so in ways that truly and decisively serve all of humanity's best good. These types of constructive choices will prepare us for our world's future, COVID-19 will not be the last global challenge we face.

Collecting the Views, Concerns and Feedback on World Process

- The PHOENIX international collaboration hub design will include:
  - a complete global collaboration support organization, support staff, infrastructure and software platform
  - collaborative discussion forums
  - solutions development tools
  - shared communications support tools
  - shared collaborative design and development working environments
  - the ability to collect and store transdisciplinary research information of all kinds
  - the ability to collect raw data of various kinds from all global contributors
  - in house research and data development staff
  - a database of global transdisciplinary research information to support collaborative efforts
  - access to external research institutions, universities, think-tanks, international governmental institutions
  - trained collaboration facilitation staff
  - strategy implementation support staff
  - social movement support staff

Some of the information collected by PHOENIX will take the form of individual's and group's views as to what problems they perceive in the world and the developments they feel are needed, required, or that they would simply like to see co-creatively and collaboratively occur in our world. PHOENIX will therefore be a repository of current and historical comments on world process. In action, the PHOENIX collaboration engine will operate as a Global Co-Creation Engine fueled by contributed information, feedback, resources and energies. It will operate as a central integrated and up to date repository for understanding and learning about what is truly happening in our world, from moment-to-moment.

Existing social media platforms will feed information to PHOENIX. The platform will also have its own dedicated user interfaces, computer applications, and mobile apps smart phones and inputs from internet users worldwide. Users will have the option to simply "opt-in" to having their views and concerns sent to PHOENIX. The platform transforms and translates social information, human emotional energy, contributed intentions and issues into constructive aligned and coordinated international strategies, and targeted solutions-oriented actions and communications. It functions as a "Social Energy Lightning Rod", which grounds into manifest reality the positive intentions, insights, knowledge and resources of collective humanity. It also functions to support optimally organized and democratically chosen, and intelligently strategized social re-engineering efforts and thus constructive transformation of humanity's global self-management process via the clearly expressed and understood will of the world's people.

- The PHOENIX platform will support a process of real-time, constructive and highly organized information received from individuals and groups representing all nations. This information will be synthesized, integrated and transmitted to existing governmental mechanisms, societal management networks, and organizations that together have the power, organizing capacity, infrastructure, technology and resources to effect mass large-scale coordinated global change. PHOENIX therefore supports centrally coordinated, sustained transformational social movements, in all stages of their lifecycles. It also supports effectively managed global collaborative change and transformation efforts that are harmonious with our natural world. This achievement of orchestrated action has not been possible before due to lack of collective organized human intention working through an empowering, effectively organizing and coordinating system. I.e. PHOENIX.

A Blockchain Technology Based Engine

- The PHOENIX collaboration engine must collect issues of concern from any and all levels of all societies, globally, and in such a way as to collate the information, organize it, integrate it, synthesize it, and warehouse it in a verifiably accurate and integrous and easily referenceable way, for free by all of humanity. Therefore PHOENIX databases will be "blockchain technology based" and thus not corruptible, and will offer transparent real time access to all, including summary statistics and research data as well as access to the base raw data these outputs were derived from.

Giving Humanity a Mirror of its Own Intentions

- Collected global data inputs by all levels of humanity will, via PHOENIX, give humanity a mirror of its own intentions that cannot be broken by denial, special interest agendas, spin, misinformation, lies or manipulation. Whether PHOENIX's process and arrived at intentions are driven by humanity's virtues, higher values, compassion and love or by our fear, hate, greed, judgmental-ness, prejudice, or historical wounding, will be decided from the input information or "votes" of those who contribute to it (crowd sourced contributed ideas, information and problem/issue/solutions descriptions). These inputs will represent the influencing votes for the "future of humanity" that each person casts via the PHOENIX user interfaces. If we all choose to vote for humanity's salvation it will be obvious, if we vote to further damage our natural world or further harm each other it will also be obvious. From these inputs collective strategies for global transformation will be arrived at.

This dynamic of accurate recorded reflection of the effects of our collective choices, intentions and global development preferences will foster rapid global learning and well managed global change. The fundamental change in world process that PHOENIX will offer us, compared to humanity's historical tendencies, is that we will all be obviously self-accountable for our choices. In addition, systems of governance and corporate influences can all also be held clearly accountable for their influences. There will be a crystal clear way to map democratic process to real world results, and corruption will become glaringly obvious when it occurs, thus it will be constructively resolvable, unlike in today's processes of global management. We will verifiably and realizably "reap what we sow" as a more conscious collective global community. This awareness will bring optimal impetus and collective understanding for global transformation and healthy change to occur.

From this accurate, clear, precise, comprehensive, and undeniable reflection of all of humanity's intentions we will all rapidly learn, grow, change and evolve and thereby move directly toward our highest potentials. As they learn from their choice's individuals, groups and nations will have the option to "change their previous PHOENIX system data inputs", i.e. they can add new data records that counterbalance previous potentially negative views, emotions, beliefs, and also ask that their prior contributions be marked as no longer valid due to their having learned better ways, if this is their free-will choice. Both new and old records will remain online for later review, as it is important to be empowered to follow the trail of our collectively arrived at history of choices, inputs and resulting local and global influences. It is also vital that we respectfully give people the time and room to learn, change, grow and evolve, without judgment for their past choices, at their own pace, and in their own free-will process, and then to have their new comments, ideas, issues and / or “votes” accurately reflect their evolving understandings of life, self, world, politics, economics, culture and humanity.

Fueling Solutions Generation

The resultant developed and optional PHOENIX platform strategies, solutions and project plans will be utilized to create real world implemented solutions that are affected in orchestrated concert with and by existing social, governmental, and economic institutions and non-profit and for-profit organizations. PHOENIX will thereby optimize and equalize global power dynamics and help people to maximally apply their personal power via their “voting perspectives, values and intentions”.

Ongoing, Clear and Substantive Feedback to Contributors

Contributors of concerns, comments, ideas, and information will be communicated with by the PHOENIX communications system staff in such a way as to verify that their concerns were accurately understood, accurately reflected in the PHOENIX databases, useful in their influence in larger strategic planning and are substantively valued, honored and cared about. Ongoing clear, and if available and feasible, substantive feedback from the PHOENIX staff to contributors about progress on their contributed issues will be made available to the contributors in order to assure them of when, where, how and why their concerns are being worked with and by who. If for any reason their contributions were not going to be acted upon then a reason would be given, (i.e. for example if their communications were hateful, prejudiced or violent in intent or nature). This ongoing interaction would represent a dialog and conversation which would unfold between contributors and downline WSS solutions mechanisms, staff and process that intentionally evolves and is refined over time.

PHOENIX will help to manage and preemptively defuse global change related stress, unresolved cultural wounds, conflicts, misunderstandings, corruption and even the cultural shock that is often associated with rapid large-scale social and international change. All of which we are all facing globally and will continue to collectively face in the future.

PHOENIX limits the potential for developing societies and nations to fall back into prior dysfunctional states and dynamics, due to negative reactions to ongoing global change and to failed and un-sustained change efforts. Many change efforts are non-collaborative, nationalistic, competitive or non-optimally arrived at, initiated, or are incompletely thought out, or not well strategized, organized, coordinated, resourced or implemented. The PHOENIX platform recognizably puts decision-making power back into the hands of collective global humanity and ensures that special interests and centralized money and power do not inordinately drive global social, political, economic or ecosystem change and developments.

Supported by and Supportive of the Latest Scientific Research

The strategy and project plan outputs from PHOENIX, as well as the analysis of all data contributed by people from around the world, will be informed by the latest scientific research which will be contributed by various international educational, research and not-for-profit organizations. There are masses of scientific knowledge and data in the world that are currently not being directly constructively utilized or applied, and this data can be utilized by PHOENIX to generate wise global transformation. When this information is constructively integrated it will support the design and definition of new and refined solutions strategies and plans that will then guide world process, standardized leadership education and local and global decisional dynamics.

The data collected by PHOENIX as its strategies are implemented, will provide feedback to affiliated educational and research entities in such a way as to improve their science and research efforts. This constant reflective cycle will constitute a mechanism of accelerated development and evolution of human consciousness globally. This PHOENIX platform's organizational model is specifically designed to remain in constant learning mode, and to constantly get “smarter” and more evolved as it draws in more information, sophisticated knowledge, contributed social perspective, ideas and intentions. Therefore, it can be accurately described as a Global Engine of Organized and Orchestrated Transdisciplinary Human Learning that supports Accelerated Evolution of Human Consciousness.

Distributed Global Leadership and Influence into the Hands of All Equally

- PHOENIX will, by its design, capacities and operational process, build trust in the world’s populations that they matter, have a collective voice, have power, that their will is being effected integrously, and that they are literally co-creating the future world they want to live in. It will offer them a way to track their personal influences in the world in order to better understand and magnify their personal power. PHOENIX is a mechanism of efficient and effectively democratized co-creative global developmental steerage that anyone and everyone can contribute to in healthy ways, based upon their personal knowledge, expertise, creative capacities, values and interests. In these ways it distributes global leadership and influence into the hands of all the people of the world equally.
- Even seemingly negative, hateful or destructive comments from contributors to PHOENIX will be respected, recorded, harmonized, transmuted and translated by PHOENIX comment evaluators into useful understandings of social dynamics or potential solutions strategies. This process will occur without any judgment of the contributor’s perspectives, intentions, beliefs, motivations or goals. All output information and strategies from PHOENIX will be focused on achieving positive, healthy, constructively managed global change and transformation. The PHOENIX platform's organizational culture is being constructed to ensure these standards are consistently met.

Supporting Rapid Evolution of Global Human Consciousness

PHOENIX supports foundational integration and alignment of the global collective consciousness. Humanity has historically slowly, gradually and constantly evolved as we learn from experience. PHOENIX will offer the global community a clearly mirrored expression of what they care about, what they want, what they know and what they do not, how they choose to create their world and how they can alternatively do so, in ever more healthy ways. This system therefore supports direct, sustainable, rapid, constructive evolution of global human consciousness. It also supports coordinated cultural educational efforts that are social evolution supportive and constructively transformational in their effect.

Ensuring Data Integrity

- The whole PHOENIX mechanism of collaboration-based communication and information flow is standardized, transparent to all, verifiably secure, non-profit and thus certifiable and provably guaranteed to be integrous in its process to all societies and at all levels of all societies. It has a built-in data buffer and data verification and authenticity evaluation front end, which filters false data from being received and does not allow information from false social media entities or people with fictitious social media accounts to either add their false data to the system, or to “swamp the system” with false or corrupting intentions, issues, problems, communications and misinformation.
- PHOENIX will counterbalance polarized news media dynamics, politicized communications and all propagandistic communications mediums that threaten to divide and fragment our world populations into the inability to work together. Thus, PHOENIX will support a System of Sustained Aligned Globally Unifying Social Movements and Social Process.
- PHOENIX’s collaboration communications system is designed to be supportive of graceful, integrous, timely, efficient, national and international orchestrated global transformation and problem resolution based upon verifiably factual, timely and complete information. It will also drive the development of better informed and appropriate leadership globally, and nationally. It will empower leaders (governmental, corporate, religious and social leaders) to better understand world issues and problems and be collectively supported by their constituencies in addressing and solving them in constructive ways.

Therefore, PHOENIX is a literal global leadership education system, a cultural education system and a system of cultural healing.

Augmenting Current Journalistic Mechanisms

- PHOENIX is an augmentation to current journalistic mechanisms and global management systems and systems of governance and fills gaps that these existing systems are not designed to understand, address or resolve or even become aware of. Simultaneously it will drive rapid constructive evolutionary change in all these existing systems.
- PHOENIX guides and supports the literal physical manifestation in real world terms of the collective creative intention of global humanity. It also efficiently ties the capacity to constructively mobilize humanity and resources and to apply organized resources to unifying strategy developments in a consistent way.
- The collaboration platform's Information Management System tracks all the information that flows through it, from reception to organized outputs, and tracks the ongoing evolution, process and efficacy of the implemented strategies and project plans and social movements that it produces.
- The PHOENIX research paper outputs will be generated by an Artificially Intelligent Journalism Engine (technology that exists today). These PHOENIX functions and their initial development can be fully funded by ongoing contributions from the public and charitable foundations.
- The PHOENIX system will not be defined in its process by contributions or by any special interest. No funding contributor will be allowed to influence any informational outputs from any portion of these systems. This PHOENIX information collection and management system will be equally available to and informationally contributed to by all socio-economic levels of all societies without favoritism.

Applying the Highest Values, Principles and Understandings of the Collective Good

The process of translating people's concerns and ideas into solutions strategies will be accomplished via application of the highest values, principles and understandings of the global collective good to the process of evaluation, synthesis and integration of this data. The strategies, project plans, solutions requirements and synthesized output data, and educational materials from PHOENIX can be distributed globally through any number of carefully designed and targeted data distribution channels that feed coordinative information to strategically collaborative groups, nations, organizations and educational institutions.

Supporting Ongoing Collective Collaboration

PHOENIX will comprehensively support ongoing collective collaborative discussions, planning and organization of peaceful activities between all kindred souls who wish to participate in support of the PHOENIX's output strategies. These affiliated groups will be empowered by being able to operate in concert with the PHOENIX produced integrated strategies. Any operating social movement will have the option of defining their own agendas, intentions, processes and strategies, independently of the PHOENIX process, and functioning within the PHOENIX infrastructure as long as their goals and process are verifiably peaceful and constructive.

The PHOENIX World Transformation Platform Overview

World Systems Solutions

The PHOENIX World Transformation Platform

World Systems Solutions

A Delivery Vehicle for the Will of the People

